

There Is Much Refinement In a Hat of Black

"I like a black hat at this season of the year," we overheard a smartly attired young person say, "because it goes with everything. They are always neat and dresy and have that air of refinement."

We have now on display a most distinct and exclusive ensemble of the season's newest innovations in black hats, for street and dress wear. Ever so becoming are these little hats of black matine and hair braids. Picturesque hats with large drooping bows of hair braid or matine, with lace crowns, or with transparent crown of matine or hair braid. Smart little pokes of matine and straight brim hats.

All very becomingly trimmed with duchess netting, French plumes, French flowers, dainty streamers of ribbon $29.50 to $15.00
